Choosing a Career Path

The first step in planning your career is to know yourself. Whether you are a first year student interested in learning how courses relate to careers, a recent graduate or are simply considering a career change. It is crucial that you first identify your INTERESTS, VALUES, SKILLS and PERSONALITY PREFERENCES in order to make a well-informed decision.

Learning about your interests will help you identify opportunities to pursue and the topics you are most naturally drawn to, making learning and work more motivating and enjoyable. Below are interest areas, based on John Holland's Occupational Themes, to see how they connect to education, training and career choices.

Values are the things that motivate us and move us toward certain decisions, behaviours and goals. Values greatly influence the career decision making process, job satisfaction and ultimately, life satisfaction.

Skills are the things that you are good at and have the ability to do well. Assessing your skills allows you to determine which ones you want to acquire or further develop, the specific ways to accomplish those goals, and how your skills match with potential careers.

Personality Preferences & Interpersonal Needs are related to your individual, innate nature and tend to be consistent over time. Understanding personality and interpersonal needs allows us to see correlations between the way you make decisions and your work style.

What can I do with my qualification or training?

Learn how to apply your qualification to specific career areas, what types of employers are hiring for different qualifications, and strategies for breaking into particular fields. Remember, your qualification does not always determine your career. Professionals use their education in a variety of fields. Be sure to explore a variety of resources as you research possible career paths.

Personal Indicator Questionnaire

Once completed, please email to careerplan@futurecareersuk.com

Please answer the questions below:

(Please select only two questions below that are most related to your interest. For your Primary choice, please select 'Yes' and 'Sometimes' for your Secondary choice.)

1. Are you interested in professions involving helping, training, or teaching abilities and enjoy working with other people in service-orientated environments? Do you value working with other people to enlighten, cure, or instruct them on areas of human growth and development? Is it important that your career means more to you beyond earning a salary?

Yes No

2. Are you interested in professions involving artistic, innovative, or intuitive abilities and like to work in unstructured creative and flexible environments? Do you like to express yourself through other mediums such as painting, drawing, writing, performing, or just creating? Do you value creativity, independence, originality, and unconventional ideas?

Yes No

3. Do you have a strong scientific, inquiring orientation? Are you interested in professions involving gathering information, uncovering new facts or theories, and analysing and interpreting data? Are you most comfortable in academic or research environments and seek to pursue advanced degrees?

Yes No

4. Are you interested in professions involving sales, marketing, management or politics? Do you value positions of leadership, power and status?

Yes No

5. Are you interested in professions involving working outside, working with things, materials, and plants or using your eye for detail? Do you prefer working with your hands? Do you value tradition, physical skills, practicality, and learning by doing?

Yes No

6. Are you interested in professions involving working with data and have clerical or numerical abilities? Do you like to carry things out in detail or follow through on instructions? Do you prefer structured situations to ambiguous ones?
